Introduction

What is Implementation Fidelity?

Fidelity is often referred to as adherence or integrity. It is a determination of how well a curriculum or program is being implemented as intended. Implementation fidelity is defined as the degree of fit between the developer-defined elements of a program and its actual implementation in a given organization or community setting. The literature currently describes and defines implementation fidelity as consisting of five elements, of which Pono Choices explicitly facilitates the four elements in bold below:

1. Adherence – The extent to which a program service, intervention, or curriculum is being delivered as it was designed or written (intended).
2. Timing – The amount of an intervention, service, or curriculum received by participants or students. Also, whether the frequency and duration of the intervention is as robust as prescribed by its developers.
3. Quality of Program Delivery – The degree to which a Facilitator, staff member, or volunteer delivers a program using the techniques prescribed by the program.
4. Engagement – The extent to which participants or students are involved in or engaged by the activities, content, or materials of a program.
5. Program Differentiation – Determines the unique features of different components, activities, or programs to identify which elements are essential without which the program will not have its intended effect. (Pono Choices is currently being tested for program efficacy. The testing identifies essential activities that have the most impact.)

Why is Implementation Fidelity Critical to Pono Choices?

The curriculum writers of Pono Choices used three theoretical foundations to build the curriculum components. In addition, they utilized a place-based Hawaiian cultural framework to reinforce medically accurate sexual health information that is developmentally appropriate and meets the Hawai‘i BOE sexual health education policy. Implementation of the curriculum components drives program outcomes and serves to improve the sexual health knowledge and behaviors of Hawai‘i middle school youth. Deviations, dilutions, or diversions from core components could result in unintended program outcomes.

Fidelity Maintenance Forms

Instructions

Note: Numbers below align with diagram of a sample of Fidelity Maintenance Form on the next page.

1. For each Module observed, fill out the Date of Observation; School; Teacher Name; Observer and identify the Modules and Activities observed during the session.
2. Review the Coding Scheme description and familiarize yourself with the Activities on the Form for each Module.
3. Note the start and end time of each Activity.
4. Record the total minutes for each Activity.
5. Check YES or NO for each Activity either completed or not.
6. Provide reason if NO is checked.
7. Provide specific change if YES is checked and teacher made changes to the activity.
8. For each Activity determine the extent to which Adherence, Time and Delivery were observed using the Coding Scheme.
9. If you observe partial Modules, circle the // at the last Activity of the Module that you were able to observe.
10. If you are able to observe a complete Module, note the Form may be on 2 pages as indicated by the .
11. Determine the overall quality of the session by circling  G  Y  R and notify Pono Choices staff or Brandon of any Yellow/Red concerns immediately.
12. Jot down 2-3 recommendations/comments noted during your observation to debrief with teacher.
13. Note if teacher requested technical assistance, describe request (Beach Ball activity, condom demo, power point handouts, etc.) and note date of when technical assistance will be provided.
